

Michael Aileo

Managing Director
PFM

Mike Aileo joined PFM in April of 2010 as the managing director of human resources. He is responsible for all aspects of human resources, including compensation and benefits, professional development, training, strategic recruitment, diversity and inclusion and identifying appropriate advancement goals for the firm's managers. With extensive experience in maximizing the value of a firm's human capital, Mike uses his knowledge to assist PFM with planning for future growth.

During his more than 23 years with PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC) in New York and Philadelphia before joining PFM, he held several roles with the firm, including Director of Human Resources for the New York Metro Tax Practice. Focused on partner matters, HR restructuring, and employee relations he was responsible for the development of various programs and processes throughout his tenure with PwC.
