

Paul Matteo

Senior Managing Consultant
PFM Financial Advisors LLC

Paul is currently a senior managing consultant within the Quantitative Strategies Group. He provides primary day-to-day support for municipal debt transactions for both competitive and negotiated sales. He also designs and builds financial models to support the financial advisory and retirement finance businesses.

Paul's previous industry experience includes research internships at a large investment advisory firm and most notably, the Federal Reserve Bank. At the latter, he researched, wrote and published white papers within the Federal Reserve Bank's publication series, SRC Insights.
